Society for Song, Yuan, and Conquest Dynasties Studies

Small Grants Program for 2021

Call for Proposals

The Society for Song, Yuan, and Conquest Dynasties Studies (SSYCDS) is pleased to announce funding for small grants to support research in any scholarly discipline on Chinese— as well as Khitan, Jurchen, Tangut, and Mongol— history, society, and culture from the early tenth to mid-fourteenth centuries.

These grants are intended to support scholars whose research programs have been disrupted by the pandemic, and who plan to present their current projects through print or digital publication. These grants can be used to support research and publication expenses including (but not limited to) travel, database subscriptions, copy-editing, research assistance, programming assistance, data entry, scanning, photocopying, image reproduction fees, and publication subventions.

General Requirements:

This grant is intended to support research by scholars who hold the Ph.D. and are at any career stage, with priority given to non-tenured and junior scholars.

Eligibility:

Applicants must be members of the Society in good standing at the time of application. Information on membership can be found at <https://songyuan.org/membership.html>.

Research grant recipients are eligible to participate on Society sponsored panels and receive subventions for panel participation at the Association for Asian Studies Annual Meeting in March 2022.

Society Officers and Board Members are not eligible for grant funding.

Grant Information:

Amount of Award: Up to $1000

Number of Awards: At least five

Application Deadline: July 1, 2021. Recipients will be notified by September 1, 2021.

Except in exceptional circumstances, grant funds are ordinarily disbursed upon submission of receipts or invoices.

Application Process:

Applicants must submit: a two-page proposal describing the project and the specific component that this grant would support; a current C.V.; an itemized budget; a short statement describing what support, if any, the applicant expects to receive from other sources (including from his or her institution).

Applications should be emailed as a PDF to secretary@songyuan.org.
